Headteacher's news:

School closure: Week 3

I hope you managed to relax at some point over the Easter period and that this issue of Rufford Park Post finds you and your family in good health. Summer term has started and the children should be back to a regular learning routine at home. We have all had to adapt to this new way of working and I want to thank you for the amazing job you are doing in supporting your child's wellbeing and learning during this time. Teachers are back to updating their class website pages on a weekly basis with home learning tasks. For those who do not have access to a computer or the internet, hard copies can be collected from school. You can arrange this and let us know of any other concerns you have about supporting your child at home by emailing or by phoning the school office.

School was very quiet over Easter but we continued to remain open for most of it to provide support to our vulnerable pupils and to the children of our critical workers. Included are some pictures of some of the more informal activities which have taken place during the last few weeks. I hope they brighten up your day. Take care and stay safe.

Elmer Elephants:

Tuesday was a 'crafty' day in Reception too as Mrs Connolly and Miss Jackson read the story 'Elmer' by David McKee and made their own patchwork elephants.

Our rainbow (now displayed above the main school entrance) was made with Mrs Cahill and Mrs Mace on the first Monday of the Easter holidays.

Modroc Tuesday continued this week as Miss Bairstow kept her promise to finish the models with the children:

The Brownlee Foundation - a message from Mr Spence:

Unfortunately due to current circumstances, the excellent Brownlee Foundation Triathlon event we had signed up for in May has been cancelled. The Brownlee Foundation are understandably sad that they cannot run the events this year but are keen to see all children being physically active at home. They would like to see how pupils are keeping active at home and have asked that these are recorded or photographed to put on social media. You can tag The Brownlee Foundation on social media using the tags below and they will be sending some exciting prizes for the best entries!
